Facility Snapshot/Description

The Rolling Plains Detention Center is located in Haskell, Texas, a small rural town in the north central part of the state approximately 55 miles north of Abilene, Texas. The facility is owned and operated by LaSalle Corrections headquartered in Ruston, Louisiana. The facility houses male and female ICE detainees of all classification levels. The facility also houses all classification levels of males and females for the U.S. Marshals Service (USMS) and Haskell County. [REDACTED]

The single story facility was opened in [REDACTED] with a rated bed capacity of [REDACTED] detainees and contains [REDACTED] open bay general housing units and [REDACTED]-cell housing units used for special management. ICE detainees are not comingled with non-ICE detainees. ICE detainees occupy [REDACTED] of the general population housing units. The rated population of these housing units range from [REDACTED] detainees. The facility uses roving officers to provide indirect supervision of detainees and is supplemented by cameras located in all housing units, hallways, and common areas.

Housing units include dayroom space, tables, telephones, televisions, microwave oven, and tablets for ordering commissary, reviewing detainee handbooks, doing legal research on LexisNexis, and communicating via email with facility staff, family, and friends. Video visits may also be conducted on the tablets for a fee.

During this inspection all nine general population male detainees were interviewed. Five formal interviews were conducted and four informal interviews. Two of the detainees interviewed were LEP and their formal interview was conducted with the assistance of a language line interpretation service. All of the detainees reported good access to the medical department and that medical was responsive to their needs when requests were made. One detainee reported he had submitted a request to medical but was never seen. This information was provided to the medical SME for follow up and the detainee had submitted the request two days ago for a non-emergent condition and was on the schedule to be seen the following day. All of the detainees reported the food at the facility was not good; either inadequate portion size or bland tasting. The safety SME followed up and observed adequate portions were being served and prepared with approved recipes. All of the detainees reported they received a handbook upon admission. All of the detainees reported the facility was clean. Detainees reported they felt safe at the facility. Detainees reported they were able to send and receive mail. There were no reported issues of access to working telephones; but there were several complaints about the cost of phone calls. Detainees reported having access to visitation although not all had family that were local enough to visit. Detainees reported knowledge of the law library and access when requested. Detainees reported they were getting offered recreation on a regular basis but they were being offered in the morning only. The OIC reported due to the extreme heat outdoor recreation for detainees was being offered in the morning and she had recently approved detainees to use the gym for additional recreation time daily. The detainees reported they see ICE staff at the facility frequently. All of the detainees interviewed were familiar with the grievance process and the OIG hotline although none reported having used either.

Overall cleanliness of the facility was rated acceptable by the team. It was noted that the ICE housing units were somewhat cluttered and in need of cleaning.

The facility does not charge co-pays for medical, mental health, or dental care. Medical care, food services, and commissary are provided by LaSalle Corrections. Detainee telephone services are provided via a contract with Correct Solutions Group. Electronic tablets are provided through a contract with JailATM.

Areas of Concern/Significant Observations

The inspection was conducted as a hybrid. Four inspectors were on-site; one inspector worked remotely. The remote inspector was unable to personally observe practices and procedures within the facility but was able to interview staff and review files. There were no areas of concern or significant observations.

Recommended Rating and Justification

The Lead Compliance Inspector recommends that the facility receive a rating of Meets Standards unless unobserved practices and conditions are contrary to what was reported to the inspection team. The facility complies with the ICE National Detention Standards (NDS 2000). No (0) standard was found Does Not Meet Standard and one (1) standard was Not Applicable (N/A). All remaining thirty-eight (38) standards were found to Meet Standards.
