U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement

Message from the Assistant Secretary

August 20, 2012

I am pleased to present the Fiscal Year 2009 and 2010 report titled, “Detained Asylum Seekers,” prepared by U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

This report responds to the requirement contained in section 903 of the Haitian Refugee Immigration Fairness Act (HRIFA) of 1998, Pub. L. No. 105–277.

Pursuant to our obligations in the HRIFA, I am transmitting a copy of this report to the following members of Congress:

The Honorable Patrick J. Leahy
Chairman, Senate Committee on the Judiciary

The Honorable Chuck Grassley
Ranking Member, Senate Committee on the Judiciary

The Honorable Charles E. Schumer
Chairman, Senate Committee on the Judiciary, Subcommittee on Immigration, Refugees and Border Security

The Honorable John Cornyn
Ranking Member, Senate Committee on the Judiciary, Subcommittee on Immigration, Refugees and Border Security

The Honorable Lamar S. Smith
Chairman, House Committee on the Judiciary

The Honorable John Conyers, Jr.
Ranking Member, House Committee on the Judiciary

The Honorable Elton Gallegly
Chairman, House Committee on the Judiciary, Subcommittee on Immigration Policy and Enforcement

The Honorable Zoe Lofgren
Ranking Member, House Committee on the Judiciary, Subcommittee on Immigration Policy and Enforcement

Inquiries about the content of this report should be directed to Jennifer Sheriff (Unit Chief, Statistical Tracking Unit) at (202) 732-6411.

Sincerely yours,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "John Morton", with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

John Morton
Assistant Secretary
U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement

Executive Summary

Section 903 of the Haitian Refugee Immigration Fairness Act of 1998 requires the Department of Homeland Security to regularly collect and present to Congress data on asylum applicants in detention. The enclosed report on detained asylum seekers covers Fiscal Year 2009 and 2010.

To fulfill this requirement, the ICE Office of Enforcement and Removal Operations ERO used the ICE Integrated Decision Support reporting system.

I. Legislative Language

This document responds to the legislative language set forth in section 903 of the Haitian Refugee Immigration Fairness Act of 1998 (Pub. L. No. 105-277H.R.), which requires the Secretary of Homeland Security to regularly collect data with respect to asylum applicants in detention.¹

Section. 903, entitled Collection of Data on Detained Asylum Seekers, specifically states:

(a) IN GENERAL.--The Attorney General shall regularly collect data on a nationwide basis with respect to asylum seekers in detention in the United States, including the following information:

- (1) The number of detainees.
- (2) An identification of the countries of origin of the detainees.
- (3) The percentage of each gender within the total number of detainees.
- (4) The number of detainees listed by each year of age of the detainees.
- (5) The location of each detainee by detention facility.
- (6) With respect to each facility where detainees are held, whether the facility is also used to detain criminals and whether any of the detainees are held in the same cells as criminals.
- (7) The number and frequency of the transfers of detainees between detention facilities.
- (8) The average length of detention and the number of detainees by category of the length of detention.
- (9) The rate of release from detention of detainees for each district of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.
- (10) A description of the disposition of cases.

(b) ANNUAL REPORTS.--Beginning October 1, 1999, and not later than October 1 of each year thereafter, the Attorney General shall submit to the Committee on the Judiciary of each House of Congress a report setting forth the data collected under subsection (a) for the fiscal year ending September 30 of that year.

¹ While section 903 specifically references the responsibility of the Attorney General, on March 1, 2003, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) assumed the functions and authorities of the Department of Justice's Immigration and Naturalization Service, including the detention of aliens.

(c) AVAILABILITY TO PUBLIC.--Copies of the data collected under subsection (a) shall be made available to members of the public upon request pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General shall prescribe.

This report takes account of the detained asylum applicants who initially made a claim for asylum in either Fiscal Year (FY) 2009 or 2010, including both principal applicants and any dependents. It also provides information on actions taken on the reported cases through September 2011, the closing date of the period covered by this report.

The format of this report has been improved from previous versions. In ICE's efforts to make the report more readable, wherever possible, the three detained asylum seeker categories were combined into one table for ease of viewing.

II. Background

Aliens present in the United States may apply for asylum affirmatively with U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) or defensively before an immigration judge as relief from removal after being issued a Notice to Appear (NTA) or a Form I-863, Notice of Referral to Immigration Judge.² Aliens found to have a credible fear³ of persecution or torture during expedited removal (ER) processing under section 235(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) may apply for asylum before an immigration judge.⁴ In addition, affirmative asylum applicants whose applications are not approved by USCIS are referred to an immigration judge for a de novo hearing in removal proceedings, unless the alien is maintaining lawful immigration status in the United States. Aliens subject to ER or who have been issued an NTA may be detained, but the custody considerations applicable to an individual asylum applicant vary based upon how the alien was processed and the specific facts of the alien's case.

In practice, only a very small number of affirmative asylum applicants are detained. On the other hand, many defensive applicants—and nearly all aliens who request asylum during ER processing—are detained for at least some portion of the processing of their immigration cases. Under section 235(b)(1)(B)(iii)(IV) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. § 1225(b)(1)(B)(iii)(IV), for aliens subject to ER, custody is statutorily mandated until the alien is found to have a credible fear of persecution or torture, after which U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) has discretion in determining whether or not to release the alien.

² Certain aliens, such as aliens admitted under the Visa Waiver Program, crewmembers, and stowaways are not placed into removal proceedings, but rather are placed into "asylum-only" proceedings before an immigration judge through the issuance of a Form I-863.

⁴ Aliens found not to have a credible fear of persecution may seek review of that finding by an immigration judge. The referral to an immigration judge is to review the credible fear determination only, not to address removability or inadmissibility grounds.

Detained aliens' asylum cases receive expedited consideration before the Department of Justice's Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR). Arriving aliens in removal proceedings may be paroled into the United States and released from custody by ICE under the parole authority at section 212(d)(5)(A) of the INA, 8 U.S.C. § 1182(d)(5), but are not eligible to request bond redetermination hearings before EOIR. ICE's parole determinations for arriving aliens found to have a credible fear of persecution or torture during the ER process are made pursuant to a uniform policy directive issued in December 2009, which is available at http://www.ice.gov/doclib/dro/pdf/11002.1-hd-parole_of_arriving_alien_found_credible_fear.pdf. Other aliens in removal proceedings in immigration court or before the Board of Immigration Appeals are generally eligible to request bond redetermination hearings before EOIR, which are generally heard within 2 to 3 days.⁵

III. Origin of Data Sources

The statistics in this report were drawn from several different databases. Data regarding affirmative asylum applications is contained in the Refugees, Asylum, and Parole System (RAPS) maintained by USCIS. Credible fear data is contained in the Asylum Pre-Screening System, maintained by USCIS. Defensive asylum data is currently contained in the Case Access System for EOIR (CASE), maintained by EOIR. Information from each of these databases was matched to information contained in the Enforcement Case Tracking System (ENFORCE) Integrated Database through the ENFORCE Alien Removal Module (EARM). EARM allows deportation officers and administrative support to effectively manage dockets and caseloads. The system is maintained by Electronic Data Systems (EDS) and the servers are housed at the Stennis Data Center in Gulfport, Mississippi.

ICE has replaced its case management system (the Deportable Alien Control System (DACS)) through the deployment of the ENFORCE Alien Detention Module (EADM). In the first phase of the replacement, EADM replaced the detention functionality of DACS on September 30, 2007. The replacement of DACS was finalized with the deployment of the EARM case management functions of DACS on August 11, 2008. These applications draw data from the ENFORCE Integrated Database providing improved reporting capabilities.

As in any record matching exercise, the possibility exists that records were not correctly matched across the systems. None of the systems contain biometric data. The only common field found throughout each system is the alien identification number (A-number).

When comparing the statistics in this report to the statistics in previous reports, it is important to note that the statistics were compiled using detention and outcome data at a different point in time each year. The average length of stay statistics and proportions in various outcome classes are not strictly comparable because elapsed time in a case has a significant impact on the status of the case.

⁵ But see INA § 236(c) (mandatory detention provisions for certain criminal and other dangerous aliens) and 8 C.F.R. § 1003.19(h)(2)(I) (2011) (limiting EOIR jurisdiction to consider certain aliens for bond).

IV. Summary of Findings

Section 903 imposes 10 reporting requirements, nine of which are statistical. The complete detail for these requests is attached as a series of statistical tables. The statistical report includes a statistical table for each numbered subparagraph of section 903, except (6), which does not require a detailed table.

A short summary of the main findings for FY 2009 and FY 2010 are included here:

(1) FY 2009 Asylum applicants by type (See Appendix—Table 1a)

- (a) 100 of the 23,919 affirmative asylum applicants were detained.
- (b) 5,317 of the 10,703 aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard were detained.
- (c) 5,325 of the 12,685 defensive asylum applicants were detained.

FY 2010 Asylum applicants by type (See Appendix—Table 1b)

- (a) 86 of the 27,332 affirmative asylum applicants were detained.
- (b) 9,041 of the 18,332 aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard were detained.
- (c) 6,642 of the 16,194 defensive asylum applicants were detained.

(2) FY 2009 Detainees by country and asylum type (See Appendix—Table 2a)

- (a) The top 3 countries for affirmative asylum applicants who were detained are Mexico (14), Honduras (13), and Guatemala (13).
- (b) The top 3 countries for aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard who were detained are the People's Republic of China (912), El Salvador (903), and Honduras (591).
- (c) The top 3 countries for defensive asylum applicants who were detained are the People's Republic of China (1,105), El Salvador (583), and Mexico (451).

FY 2010 Detainees by country and asylum type (See Appendix—Table 2b)

- (a) The top 5 countries for affirmative asylum applicants who were detained are Mexico (25), El Salvador (6), and China, Guatemala, and India with (5) applicants each.
- (b) The top 3 countries for aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard who were detained are El Salvador (1,982), China (855), and Honduras (838).
- (c) The top 3 countries for defensive asylum applicants who were detained are China (955), El Salvador (839), and Mexico (796).

(3) FY 2009 Detainees by gender and asylum type (See Appendix—Table 3a)

- (a) Males made up 77 percent of the affirmative asylum applicants who were detained.
- (b) Males made up 57 percent of aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard who were detained.
- (c) Males made up 77 percent of the defensive asylum applicants who were detained.
- (d) Males made up 67 percent of the total number of detained asylum applicants.

FY 2010 Detainees by gender and asylum type (See Appendix—Table 3b)

- (a) Males made up 84 percent of the affirmative asylum applicants who were detained.
- (b) Males made up 58 percent of aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard who were detained.

- (c) Males made up 78 percent of the defensive asylum applicants who were detained.
- (d) Males made up 67 percent of the total number of detained asylum applicants.

(4) FY 2009 Detainees by age and asylum type (See Appendix—Table 4a)

- (a) The average age for affirmative asylum applicants who were detained was 27.
- (b) The average age for aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard who were detained was 27.
- (c) The average age for defensive asylum applicants who were detained was 29.

FY 2010 Detainees by age and asylum type (See Appendix—Table 4b)

- (a) The average age for affirmative asylum applicants who were detained was 34.
- (b) The average age for aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard who were detained was 29.
- (c) The average age for defensive asylum applicants who were detained was 30.

(5) FY 2009 Detainees by State/the District of Columbia/Territory, detention facility, and asylum type (See Appendix—Table 5a)

- (a) California was the leading state for detention of affirmative asylum applicants (20).
- (b) Texas was the leading state for detention of aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard (7,190).
- (c) Texas was the leading state for detention of defensive asylum applicants (2,185).

FY 2010 Detainees by State/the District of Columbia/Territory, detention facility, and asylum type (See Appendix—Table 5b)

- (a) California was the leading state for detention of affirmative asylum applicants (37).
- (b) Texas was the leading state for detention of aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard (10,699).
- (c) Texas was the leading state for detention of defensive asylum applicants (2,450).

(6) For both FY 2009 and FY 2010, and with respect to each facility where detainees are held, whether the facility is also used to detain convicted criminals and whether any of the detainees are held in the same cells as convicted criminals:

In September 2000, the former Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) published 36 National Detention Standards (NDS) applicable to facilities used to hold detainees for more than 72 hours. The facilities housing detainees longer than 72 hours include former INS-owned service processing centers (SPCs), contract detention facilities (CDFs), and state or local government facilities used by the former INS through intergovernmental service agreements (IGSAs).

During 2001, the former INS provided training covering the NDS to Deportation and Removal Operations (now known as Enforcement and Removal Operations - ERO) employees nationwide. In January 2002, the former INS implemented the Detention Management Control Program (DMCP). The DMCP was intended to ensure that facilities used by the former INS to house detainees are safe, secure, and humane. Under the DMCP, former INS personnel institute policies, standards, and procedures for former INS detention operations; they also review detainee facilities to ensure they are operated in a safe, secure, and humane condition for both detainees and staff. DMCP is designed to measure facility compliance with the NDS.

ICE continually evaluates the NDS applicable to SPCs, CDFs and IGSA's. For instance, two additional NDS were later created to bring the total number to 38 NDS. First, the detention standard regarding staff-detainee communication was issued in July 2003 and, second, the detention standard regarding detainee transfer was approved in September 2004. In 2008, ICE again revised the detention standards and published 41 Performance Based National Detention Standards (PBNDS). These standards are based in part on the NDS that were developed in 2000, but were updated to reflect industry standards and current detention concerns.

ICE worked closely with non-governmental organizations in developing the PBNDS. Four of the PBNDS are new: news media interviews and tours (formerly part of visitation), searches of detainees, sexual abuse and assault prevention and intervention, and staff training. The ICE PBNDS, introduced in December 2008, reflect more than three years of effort by ERO, the Division of Immigration Health Services (now known as ICE Health Service Corps - IHSC), the Office of the Principal Legal Advisor, and non-governmental organizations. Unlike the NDS, which focus on what is to be done, the PBNDS prioritizes results and the outcomes that the required procedures are expected to accomplish. For example, the expected outcome each detention standard is intended to produce is stated, not assumed. Prescribed expected practices represent what is to be done to accomplish those expected outcomes. The application of the PBNDS to the ICE ERO detention system continues ICE ERO's effort to abide by the highest standards in national detention management.

As part of the detention reform effort, ICE is further improving the PBNDS as they apply to the agency's largest facilities. Efforts include increasing the quality and quantity of recreation and visitation. Special emphasis is also being given to ensure increased access to telephones, law libraries, medical services, and services provided by pro bono counsel.

ICE NDS and PBNDS address the requirements for the designation and classification of detainees. Policy states that facilities shall develop and implement a system for classifying detainees in accordance with ICE policy, rules, and guidelines. The classification system created through ICE standards ensures that each detained alien is placed in the appropriate category and physically separated from detainees in other categories. ICE standards require that all detainees be classified before being admitted into the general population of a facility. The facility staff is to use the most reliable, objective information from the detainee's file during the classification process. "Objective" information refers to facts, such as current offenses, past offenses, escapes, institutional disciplinary history, and violent episodes.

The classification system was designed to assign detainees to the least restrictive housing unit consistent with facility safety and security. Grouping detainees by classification level reduces non-criminal and nonviolent detainee exposure to physical and psychological dangers. Detainees are assigned housing, offered recreational activities, and assigned work according to their classification level.

SPCs, most CDFs, and IGSA facilities house both convicted criminal and non-criminal aliens, who are separated based on the NDS and PBNDS classification requirements, as detailed above. ICE has contracted with some facilities to house only low risk detainees, including asylum seekers. These are the Broward Transitional Center in Pompano Beach, Florida, and CDF Elizabeth in Elizabeth, New Jersey. In addition, ICE has IGSA's with Berks County,

Pennsylvania, for family shelter services, and the T. Don Hutto Residential Center in Taylor, Texas,⁶

ICE no longer has the responsibility for the care and custody of unaccompanied alien children. Section 462 of the Homeland Security Act of 2002, Pub. L. No. 107-296 transferred responsibility for the care and placement custody of unaccompanied alien children to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.⁷

In December 2006, the Department of Homeland Security, Office of Inspector General (OIG)⁸ undertook an audit of compliance concerning four detention standards (1. Health Care; 2. Environmental Health Safety; 3. General Conditions of Confinement; and 4. Reporting of Abuse) at five detention facilities:

1. Berks County Prison (BCP), Leesport, Pennsylvania;
2. Corrections Corporation of America (CCA) Facility, San Diego, California;
3. Hudson County Correction Center (HCCC), Kearny, New Jersey;
4. Krome Service Processing Center (SPC), Miami, Florida; and
5. Passaic County Jail (PCJ), Paterson, New Jersey.

The above five facilities represent each of the three categories of ICE detention facilities: SPC (Krome), CDF (CCA San Diego), and IGSA (BCP, HCCC, and PCJ).

The report identified instances of non-compliance with ICE Detention Standards at these five facilities. However, as OIG stated in its report, “We did not use statistical sampling for our sample selections, and the results of our testing should not be projected to the detainee population or other facilities.”

Moreover, OIG stated, “During our audit, we brought these concerns to the attention of the Office of Detention and Removal Operations (DRO) management and responsible facility officials. ICE took immediate action to address many of our concerns.” As a result of OIG’s audit, in August 2007, ICE took a further step and reissued a directive to each Field Office Director to ensure that proper classification procedures were in place at all detention facilities used to house ICE detainees. In response to the August 2007 memorandum “Reviewing Classification Procedures at Detention Facilities,” Field Office Directors confirmed that all SPCs, CDFs, and IGSA providers fully complied with the ICE NDS and PBNDS for Detainee Classification System respectively.

The memorandum stressed the importance that all detainees be housed in environments appropriate to each detainee’s convicted criminal or non-criminal history and that detainees are not placed in a general housing unit without being properly evaluated and classified using the procedures outlined in the ICE Detainee Classification Standard. Each Field Office Director was required to review each office's current classification and housing assignment practices in place for detainees under their jurisdiction and take any corrective action necessary to ensure compliance with the NDS Detainee Classification Standard.

⁶ As of September 17, 2009, the Hutto facility no longer holds family units but, instead, now houses females. ICE has no plans to restrict the conditions of detention even though Hutto is no longer a family facility.

As part of its detention reform effort, ICE is developing a new detainee intake process and Classification Standard that will provide for greater consistency and transparency with respect to custody determinations. The process will also specifically take into account considerations related to vulnerable populations, including past victims of persecution. ICE has received extensive input to this system from non-governmental organizations and other stakeholders.

(7) FY 2009 Detainees by frequency of transfers between detention facilities and asylum type
(See Appendix—Table 6a)

- (a) 67 percent of affirmative asylum applicants who were detained were held in only one facility. 86 percent were held in one or two facilities.
- (b) 38 percent of aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard, who were detained, were held in only one facility. 77 percent were held in one or two facilities.
- (c) 65 percent of defensive asylum applicants who were detained were held in only one facility. 85 percent were held in one or two facilities.

FY 2010 Detainees by frequency of transfers between detention facilities and asylum type
(See Appendix—Table 6b)

- (a) 60 percent of affirmative asylum applicants who were detained were held in only one facility. 87 percent were held in one or two facilities.
- (b) 41 percent of aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard, who were detained, were held in only one facility. 85 percent were held in one or two facilities.
- (c) 68 percent of defensive asylum applicants who were detained were held in only one facility. 87 percent were held in one or two facilities.

(8) *FY 2009 Detainees by length of detention and asylum type*⁹ (See Appendix—Table 7a)

- (a) The average length of detention for affirmative asylum applicants was 73 days; 74 percent of all affirmative asylum applicants who were released had 90 or fewer days in detention.
- (b) The average length of detention for aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard was 89 days; 72 percent of all aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard who were released had 90 or fewer days in detention.
- (c) The average length of detention for defensive asylum applicants was 110 days; 68 percent of all defensive asylum applicants who were released had 90 or fewer days in detention.

*FY 2010 Detainees by length of detention and asylum type*⁹ (See Appendix—Table 7b)

- (a) The average length of detention for affirmative asylum applicants was 65 days; 84 percent of all affirmative asylum applicants who were released had 90 or fewer days in detention.

⁹ Average length of detention for each asylum category is calculated by dividing the total number of man days that asylum seekers spent in detention by the total number of asylum seekers who spent any time in detention. The total number of asylum seekers includes both those who were released during the year and those who were still in custody at the end of the year. This number cannot be calculated using Table 7.

- (b) The average length of detention for aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard was 66 days; 87 percent of all aliens who met the credible fear screening standard who were released had 90 or fewer days in detention.
- (c) The average length of detention for defensive asylum applicants was 95 days; 75 percent of all defensive asylum applicants who were released had 90 or fewer days in detention.

(9) Detainees by case, area of responsibility, and type of release reason FY 2009 see appendix—Table 8a and FY 2010 see appendix—table 8b

(10) FY 2009 Detainees by disposition of cases and asylum type (See Appendix—Table 9a)

- (a) 16 percent (16 out of 100) of affirmative asylum applicants were detained and ultimately granted asylum/other relief.
- (b) 11 percent (569 out of 5,317) of aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard were detained and ultimately granted asylum/other relief.
- (c) 16 percent (844 out of 5,325) of defensive asylum applicants were detained and ultimately granted asylum/other relief.

FY 2010 Detainees by disposition of cases and asylum type (See Appendix—Table 9b)

- (a) 14 percent (12 out of 86) of affirmative asylum applicants were detained and ultimately granted asylum/other relief.
- (b) 10 percent (868 out of 9,041) of aliens found to have met the credible fear screening standard were detained and ultimately granted asylum/other relief.
- (c) 18 percent (1,178 out of 6,642) of defensive asylum applicants were detained and ultimately granted asylum/other relief.

“Unknown” indicates that the subject’s gender classification was either not recorded by the officer, or could not be identified by observation nor was it clarified or confirmed by the asylum seeker. If the individual was assigned to a hold room, confirmation of gender would not be necessary; otherwise, the classification officer ultimately determined gender, but did not later make the correction.
