HEALTH CARE WORKER

Leading the Way in Detention Health Care

ICE Health Service Corps (IHSC) supports ICE's mission to provide national security and public safety. We ensure the provision of required health care delivery for detained aliens by providing medical, dental, mental health, preventive, and public health care.

We assist in ICE custody operations, offer medical support during air and maritime missions, and advise ICE leadership on health-related matters in the field. Our vision is to be the best health care delivery system in detention and correctional health care.

Who We Are

ICE Health Service Corps comprises a diverse workforce of approximately 1,750 authorized positions that includes federal civil servants, U.S. Public Health Service Commissioned Corps officers, and contract health professionals.

What We Do

ICE Health Service Corps supports ICE's mission to protect national security and public safety, upholds health care standards across ICE-owned and contracted facilities, and ensures the provision of required medical services for detained aliens.

Providing High Quality Medical Services

Serving on the Front Lines

ICE Health Service Corps medical staff support ICE by providing health care in places where it is most needed. Officers deploy to provide medical support and make an impact on public health during emergencies and ICE special missions. We perform health screenings to ensure the safety and well being of detained aliens; provide medical support during repatriation flights; and take on temporary duty assignments across the country.

Whether you are starting your career or looking for your next opportunity, we welcome you to bring your skills, energy, and ideas to a place where they truly matter.

Combating Human Trafficking

ICE Health Service Corps supports the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's priority to end human trafficking. Working closely with our partner agencies, we help identify, screen, and treat detained aliens who may be victims of trafficking.

Behavioral health professionals conduct comprehensive assessments and interventions to address behavioral health needs such as depression, anxiety disorder, post-traumatic stress disorder, and other serious mental illness or conditions. Join a team that provides care while contributing to a vital national mission.
